

June Reflection 2017

Just because it is cold doesn't mean we stay inside during the winter months. As soon as the door is open the children are out running. Many of these children just want to run, what better way to warm up than to be involved in some physical activity. Outside the children have practiced their eye/hand coordination when play tennis. When hitting that ball the children are stretching their body and getting their large muscles moving. Painting is not just for inside, we have an easel set up outside and it seems finger and hand prints were a fun way to explore colour and colour combinations. The damp sand is an ideal location to see what tracks the big trucks made, early signs of engineers at play here.

Camping has been a topic of conversation in recent weeks. There have been many stories about children going camping and sleeping in tents and some children have slept in a tent in their backyard on their lounge room. We have also been talking about camp fires as that's what you have when camping. We may even have a real comp fire to toast some yummy marsh mellow.

Isaac and Josh finished off the last of our carrots so it was time to plant some winter veggies. The children were involved in pulling out the old plants and turning the soil over. More input from the children was required as they helped plant out our assortment of herbs and veggies. So far the children have been taking good care of the garden, ensuring they have plenty of water. They have used the play water from inside and from the rainwater tank to keep the ground moist.

With the sun that we have been having we look forward to a bumper crop.

inks to the National Quality Standards: Quality Area 1, Educational Program and Practice and TRCC Philosophy

