

Purple Group Reflection. Term 2. Week 7

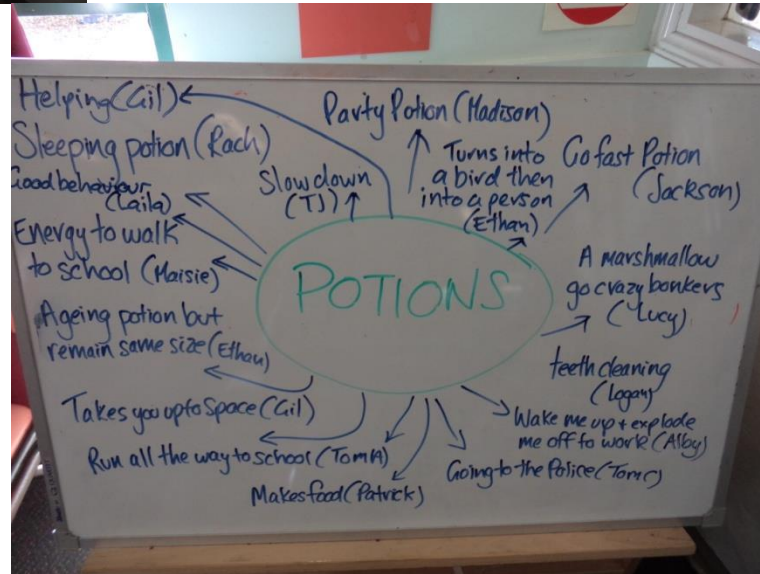

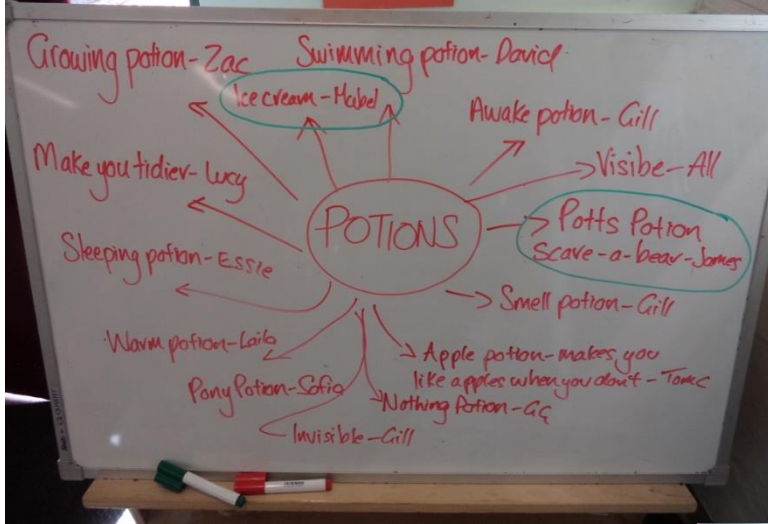

Outcome 4: Children are confident and involved learners.

NQS 1: Educational program and practice

We took inventing to a whole new level and decided to invent some new colours and thus re-invent the song 'I can sing a rainbow' once our new pallet of colours were invented – each child could choose a few colours to blend into a new one and then name it for our revised edition of the song! They later enjoyed their own colour self exploration using the left over paints and a clean slate to create on!

Our interactive highlight during the week was inventing new potions! After brainstorming ideas on what new potions we could invent we chose a few to mix up – using an assortment of watered down paints and flour! The children loved seeing the colours blend and change in the process! We explained that our potions were nil by mouth and ones to dab onto skin to be effective 😊
